【2】次の対話は、高校生の春雄とオーストラリアから来た留学生のダンが放課後に話したものであり、右の表は、そのときダンが持っていたメモの一部です。これに関して、あとの問1～問5に答えなさい。

Haruo: Dan, do you have some information about the summer programs? You know I want to study English through activities in your country this summer. There are so many programs and I don't know which is good for me.

Dan: I've found some programs for you, Haruo. Look at this. Each program has a different activity. A.

Haruo: Well, I'm interested in studying about culture. For example, I want to study about the food of Australia.

Dan: That's good. For me the Japanese food is very interesting.

Haruo: Dan, wait! My music club will have a concert on July 30. Look at the period of this program. It'll start before the concert. I can't join this program.

Dan: Then, how about these two programs? They B the concert.

Haruo: That's right, but I don't know much about these activities. Look at Program 3. In Australia, do many people learn Japanese?

Dan: Yes. Many children learn it at school. In this program you can teach Japanese to some children.

Haruo: Oh, really? That's interesting. Dan, my brother went to Australia two years ago. He talked about Japan to some children there. So I think he has some information about this activity. I will C. Let's look at another program. Have you ever been to a farm in Australia?

Dan: Yes, I've been to some farms before. People were very kind and I made many friends there. I enjoyed staying on farms very much.

Haruo: Really? Now I'm interested in this activity. And look at the quota. More students can join this program. I have more chance to join it.

Dan: Haruo, I've been interested in traditional Japanese houses. So I read some books about them, and then I came to Japan. Last month I visited one of the traditional houses. It was great! I think you should know some things about Australia if you want to go there.

Haruo: I think you're right. Thanks.

【3】次の英文を読んで、あとの問1～問7に答えなさい。

Kumiko is a high school student. Last summer she went to Los Angeles and stayed there with the White family for three weeks. In the family, there were Mr. White, Mrs. White and their child, Sally. She was thirteen years old.

One day, when Kumiko was talking about Japan with the family, Mrs. White said, "I've never been to Japan, but I know Mt. Fuji." Kumiko said, "Mt. Fuji is the highest mountain in Japan, and many people visit it. About ten years ago, there was much litter on the mountain trail. And many volunteers often clean the trail. I've done it three times. Mt. Fuji is more beautiful now." Mr. White said, "Really? I didn't know that. It's good to work together for nature. Well, do you know the Grand Canyon?" Kumiko answered, "Yes, I've seen some pictures of ①it. It's a beautiful park." Mr. White said, "Yes, it is. But there was some air pollution before. People have done many things to preserve the beautiful nature. Shall we go there, Kumiko?" "Wow, great! Thank you," Kumiko said. Sally was

A , too.

The next Friday, Kumiko left Los Angeles with the White family by train in the evening. They got to the Grand Canyon the next afternoon. It was a long trip. Kumiko enjoyed it because it was her first time to sleep on a train.

In the Grand Canyon, they first enjoyed walking on a trail. From the trail they could see the great canyon and the river. They saw some big birds, too. It was very exciting for Kumiko. Then they took a bus and went to see the sunset. On the bus Kumiko asked, "I saw a lot of people in this park today. How many people come here every year?" Mr. White answered, "Well, about 5,000,000 people come to see this park." "I don't see any cars around here. I can see only buses," Kumiko said. Mr. White said, "We can't come into this area by car. We have to walk or take a bus to move in this area." Then Mrs. White said, "And some of the buses use clean fuel. So the air is becoming cleaner around here." Kumiko said, "Now I know why people use buses in this area." Mr. White said, "It's important for us to live with nature, Kumiko."

Soon they got to a good place to see the sunset. Sally said, "Kumiko, look! The sunset is so beautiful!" ②Kumiko was very (beautiful see glad sunset to the). The next day, they went back to Los Angeles.
